

The Show That Got Away

The show I'm referring to is the Liedkrantz show in February. We were tentatively slated to be on the bill but got word that we are too heavy for the show this year (2008). I imagine there are other good bands that were dropped from the show for the same reason. The unusual thing about this is that we were judged as one of the most liked bands last year. Since this is a benefit show it's not that much of a concern as a curiosity to me.
